GREATEST DISASTER ON AMERICAN CONTINENT SMASHES EAST COAST

Red Cross Receives Reports that Estimates of Dead Run from 700 to 1000--50,000 Homeless

Property Loss Will Surpass $100,000,000--It has been Estimated That Miami Alone will show Losses Equaling that Figure Given

By A. L. RECK
United Press Staff Correspondent

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 20.—Cities which were built over night in the greatest era of development in American community has ever known, collapsed overnight in one of the greatest disasters ever to visit the North American continent.

A great hurricane blowing 130 miles an hour out of the West Indies has devastated the Florida east coast from Palm Beach south to Homestead.

Many cities have been destroyed and many hundreds of lives lost.

The known dead this morning totalled 261.

Authoritative agencies estimated the number killed at 471 in the larger cities alone. The Red Cross has received reports the dead will reach 700 and some estimates run as high as 1,000.

Fifty thousand persons are estimated homeless and suffering severe privations.

Property damage will surpass $100,000,000. It has been estimated that Miami alone will show losses equalling that figure.

Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Hialeah, Pompano, Dania, Hallandale, Moorehaven, Clewiston, Key Largo, Homestead, Coral Gables, Muckway and Key West all have suffered in varying degree, the first six named and Miami to a point where probably they will have to be rebuilt.

It was six days ago that the hurricane was first born out in the West Indies. It rolled westward and at 2 a. m. Saturday it broke upon Miami from the northwest.

For four hours the wind roared and whirled at a velocity of 130 miles an hour.

The great tower of the Miami News, famed the world over for its architectural beauty, leaned to a 20 degree angle, twisted and wrenched.

The 10 story Meyer Keyser building was ruined.

Building after building was blown down or was shattered and torn.

Boats were tossed, sunk or destroyed in the harbor as if they were but things of flimsy tissue.

People were crushed, killed or injured.

Wires were twisted into entanglements such as on the battle field of France.

Rain fell in torrents.

Water banked up in the harbor by the vast power of the hurricane swept to the shore, wrecking what was in its path and leaving boats high on the land.

And while this was going on in Miami, other of the magic cities of the Florida east coast were almost equal sufferers.

Hollywood, perhaps the most famous of the Florida developments, was wrenched and torn. Estimates of the dead there were placed at 200.

Fort Lauderdale was visited with only slightly less fury. Fifteen bodies have been recovered from its wreckage and the casualties there may be greater. Hialeah's famous race track was ruined and 17 were reported killed.

The storm swept inland over Lake Okeechobee and an aviator who on Sunday flew in that vicinity came back with an estimate that probably 140 persons had been killed in Moorehaven and Clewiston.

Another man who had been over the territory said he estimated the dead along the railway between Moorehaven and Muckway at 40.

Key West also suffered and 18 were reported killed there.

The hurricane which swept the Florida east coast Saturday roared westward today and seemed bending its fury against the vicinity of Pensacola, Mobile and Birmingham, Ala., leaving Miami, Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale and a half dozen other "magic cities" of Florida to count the dead and survey the wreckage.

Almost hourly reports came of some new phase of the disaster and these reports swelled rather than diminished its magnitude.

Best available compilations place the dead at fully 400, less than half of which have been identified.

Reports gathered from as many sections of the stricken region as could be reached, revealed an estimated death toll of 748 scattered among 11 cities.

Miami suffered the greatest and its death list is estimated at 300. Hollywood, Moorehaven and Clewiston, Fort Lauderdale, Muckway, Hialeah, Dania, Hallandale, Key West

NEW ORLEANS ALSO REPORTS HIGH WINDS

U. S. WEATHER REPORTS ISSUED SHORTLY BEFORE 9 A. M.

BAROMETER AT MOBILE DROPPED 30 POINTS SINCE LAST NIGHT

Washington, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The wind velocity at Mobile, Ala., has reached 100 miles an hour, the weather bureau was informed in a report shortly before 9 A. M.

New Orleans also reported high winds.

Weather bureau officials said it appeared that Pensacola and Mobile were now in the center of the hurricane.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 20.—With a wind velocity of 50 miles an hour, the tropical hurricane sweeping out from the Gulf of Mexico struck Mobile at 5 A. M. today.

The barometer was 29.43, a drop of nearly 30 points since 8 o'clock last night.

The storm thus far has done no damage to the shipping.

Reports from Pensacola said the wind there was 69 miles and the barometer stood at 29.29, 20 points' drop in nine hours.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane which struck here early today was hourly increasing in fury.

The raging winds have increased to a velocity of 60 miles an hour, the weather bureau announced at 7 A. M. and the peak of intensity has not been reached.

At Pensacola, Fla., the wind has reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour, according to advices here, and the intensity is expected to increase during the day.

LAST WORD HEARD FROM MOBILE

St. Louis, Sept. 20.—United Press wires to Mobile, Ala., failed to work at 9:05 A. M. today. The following was the last dispatch received from the stricken city:

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 20.—(UP)—The tropical hurricane here is increasing rapidly in intensity. At 8:45 o'clock this morning the wind gauge at the weather bureau registered 62 miles an hour and had been as high as 69 miles. The barometer which at 7 o'clock read 29.36 is now registering 29.22 and continues to fall.

At 7 o'clock the local weather office had telephone connection with the bureau in Pensacola and was told at that time that the wind was blowing at 100 miles an hour there and the barometer stood at 29.10. Just then the wire failed and since that time no connection has been available.

The wind has been of serious but not extremely alarming velocity here all morning, but seems now reaching the point of some danger. The writer, in passing from the weather bureau building, narrowly escaped being hit by a large bank sign which crashed to the pavement driven by the force of the wind and scattered broken glass from outside light globes all along the street.

It is difficult to make headway against the wind walking down the streets.

Street car traffic has been abandoned, because of trolley wires being down at places. Stores and—

MAN OF MANY CRIMES NOW FACES JUSTICE

THOMAS JOHNSON BEING TRIED TRIED FOR THE MURDER OF ERDALL

LATTER, A MINNESOTA ATHLETE, WAS KILLED DURING HOLDUP

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—(UP)—First testimony was to be introduced today in the trial of Thomas Johnson for the murder of Leonard Erdall, an attorney and former University of Minnesota athlete, who was killed during a holdup.

When court reconvened today, three jurors remained to be selected. Of the nine who were chosen before the available number of veniremen was exhausted, forcing a postponement over Saturday, seven were men and two women. Many were excused because they admitted a fixed opinion of guilt.

Bored by the selection of jurors, Johnson seems to regard his trial as a theater spectacle. He remarks on the number of persons attending, comments that "It's a good show" and appears hurt because the spectators ignore him.

Johnson has admitted killing Erdall in addition to confessing 13 other murders and 1,750 robberies, but refused to plead on being arraigned and a plea of not guilty was entered for him.

A commission found Johnson to be sane at present, but left a loophole by not passing on the question of his mental condition at the time of the murder.

Gasoline Tax Daily Record of Payment Heavy One

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The largest single day's receipts from the Minnesota two-cent gasoline tax since it went into effect May 1, 1925, was collected today by the state treasurer's office. The amount was $175,872.16.

TALES OF HORROR ARE RELATED BY STORM SURVIVOR

TOWN OF MOOREHAVEN IS COMPLETELY LEVELLED BY HURRICANE

LEVEE BREAKS, LOOSING WALL OF WATER ON ILL-FATED TOWN

At the Field Hospital and Morgue Base, Sebring, Fla., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Tales of horror that followed the complete ruin of the town of Moorehaven, levelled by the tropical hurricane, were brought back here today by Wade H. Marlowe, one of the first of a rescue party to reach the stricken town.

"I arrived in Moorehaven not long after the levee holding Lake Okeechobee had broken in three places, loosing its gigantic wall of water upon the town," Marlowe told the United Press.

"The water poured through the streets and countryside at a depth of 12 feet. There were no warnings and the people had no chance to escape."

"Those who live today to tell of the disaster saved themselves by swimming and clinging to the wreckage of flimsy homes that collapsed under the first impact."

"A few made their way to two-story buildings which had remained standing and there we found them."

"They were too frightened and too near physical collapse to venture forth from their temporary shelter and it was only after considerable persuasion that we got them away."

"Fifty-one bodies had been recovered last night. They will be brought here later."

"We saw bodies of men, women and children floating about on the high waters but made no attempt to recover them, first seeking possible injured who were still alive."

"Elmer Sutton and Mrs. Louis Falow were found perched on shelves in their house, which was floating away from its site."

"Searching farther we came upon another house that was floating and there we rescued W. H. Edwards and R. E. Green. They too were riding the shelves."

"Wild animals and snakes fell victims to the onrushing waters."

"We would pass floating bodies, near which were dead animals and snakes. The cries of the frightened women and children were maddening."

"Only one child of the Doquilla family of seven was saved. Of another family named Bowman, the father was the only one of six who is alive today."

"Pitiful scenes are being enacted at the morgue here as refugees move slowly through the somber aisles seeking to identify missing relatives."

FORMER DIPLOMAT WITHDRAWS SUIT FOR HIS DIVORCE

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Richard Washburn Child, former United States ambassador to Italy, withdrew his suit for divorce from his wife, Maude Park Childs. The suit was filed July 26.

3 U. S. SAILORS ARE WOUNDED IN FIGHT WITH CHINESE

Pekin, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Three United States sailors have been slightly wounded in fighting on the Yangtze river, according to a dispatch received here. The United States gunboat Pidgeon was attacked from Hangtong and Wuchang at the junction of the Han and Yangtze rivers. About 100 bullets struck the Pidgeon, whose crew replied with machine gun fire.

LINES ARE IN CHARGE OF THE RED CROSS

RELIEF TRAIN WITH 15 PHYSICIANS, STAFF OF NURSES ARRIVES

STORES AND WAREHOUSES ARE WRECKED IN STORM, FOOD SUPPLIES DESTROYED

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Bread lines formed in the business district of storm-wrecked Miami today, according to word reaching here.

The homeless filed in long lines to get first food and pure drinking water since the storm broke over the city early Saturday.

The lines are in charge of the Red Cross. Bread tickets are issued only to the needy.

A relief train bearing 15 physicians, a staff of nurses, provisions, medicine and supplies and two cars of drinking water have arrived in Miami, the first outside help.

State militia met the relief train and closely guarded its cargo, escorting physicians and nurses to hospitals where the most seriously injured are being cared for.

Aside from the lives lost, the most appalling disaster of the storm was the wrecking of stores and warehouses, which meant virtually all food supplies were destroyed. With railroad service paralyzed, it was feared incoming supplies would be greatly delayed. Some food supplies may come by water.

Virtual military rule prevails in Miami and other cities, but there is a shortage of troops.

The first relief train bearing 15 physicians, a corps of nurses, medicine and supplies and carrying two cars of drinking water arrived in Miami today.

With thousands of men, women and children in need, it was feared a crowd might storm the train. State militiamen, therefore, met the train and maintained constant vigil over the supplies.

Despite strict precautions, looting has occurred, and one man was shot by guards last night after he was caught pilaging in a destroyed office building.

A temporary field hospital and morgue base was established at 4 A. M. at Sebring, Fla., and 800 of the most seriously injured from the wrecked districts were assembled there. Reports said 40 were dead at Sebring.

In the small cities badly maimed victims were taken to emergency hospitals in railroad stations pending arrival of relief trains.

Physicians aboard the "hospital specials" passed from berth to berth administering to the more seriously hurt.

Scenes of abject sorrow in Miami followed the first relief from the storm.

At police headquarters where 30 unidentified dead had been removed, groups of anxious men and women moved in procession until guards compelled them to leave the streets at 6 P. M.

Temporary morgues were thronged with relatives of missing men and women.

Several women fainted. Reports from the west coast show that Tampa was lashed only by the tail of the hurricane. One hundred thousand dollars was the damage estimate there.

At Lakeland, the wind blew 50 miles an hour and 10 per cent of the orange, lemon and grapefruit crop was blown from the trees.

In Little River and Lemon City, hardly a structure escaped damage, but the loss of life apparently was not heavy.

Miami Shores seemed to have suffered less than any other community in that region.

In Ojus, Davie and Dania dozens of buildings were twisted and torn and there was much the same story of desolation there as in Miami and Hollywood.

Weather bureau reports showed that the hurricane passed on towards Pensacola, Mobile and Birmingham. All communication with Pensacola has been lost. Last reports showed the hurricane blowing at a rate of 100 miles an hour in the Mobile-Pensacola area.

It was feared that while the Mobile-Pensacola area is cut off from communication just as was Miami on Saturday, the storm may be working its havoc there.

High winds were reported as far west as New Orleans. The hurricane now blowing for six days, seemed to show no evidence of spending its fury.

In the meantime Miami and her surrounding cities turned to counting the dead, caring for the injured, estimated to total 4,000 and feeding.

"The water poured through the streets and countryside at a depth of 12 feet. There were no warnings and the people had no chance to escape."

"Those who live today to tell of the disaster saved themselves by swimming and clinging to the wreckage of flimsy homes that collapsed under the first impact."

"A few made their way to two-story buildings which had remained standing and there we found them. They were too frightened and too near physical collapse to venture forth from their temporary shelter and it was only after considerable persuasion that we got them away."

"Fifty-one bodies had been recovered last night. They will be brought here later."

"We saw bodies of men, women and children floating about on the high waters but made no attempt to recover them, first seeking possible injured who were still alive."

"Effie Sutton and Mrs. Louis Falow were found perched on shelves in their house, which was floating away from its site."

"Searching farther we came upon another house that was floating and there we rescued W. H. Edwards and R. E. Green. They too were riding the shelves."

"Wild animals and snakes fell victims to the onrushing waters."

"We would pass floating bodies, near which were dead animals and snakes. The cries of the frightened women and children were maddening."

"Only one child of the Doquilla family of seven was saved. Of another family named Bowman, the father was the only one of six who is alive today."

"Pitiful scenes are being enacted at the morgue here as refugees move slowly through the somber aisles seeking to identify missing relatives."

LINES ARE IN CHARGE OF THE RED CROSS

RELIEF TRAIN WITH 15 PHYSICIANS, STAFF OF NURSES ARRIVES

STORES AND WAREHOUSES ARE WRECKED IN STORM, FOOD SUPPLIES DESTROYED

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Bread lines formed in the business district of storm-wrecked Miami today, according to word reaching here.

The homeless fled in long lines to get first food and pure drinking water since the storm broke over the city early Saturday.

The lines are in charge of the Red Cross. Bread tickets are issued only to the needy.

A relief train bearing 15 physicians, a staff of nurses, provisions, medicine and supplies and two cars of drinking water have arrived in Miami, the first outside help.

State militia met the relief train and closely guarded its cargo, escorting physicians and nurses to hospitals where the most seriously injured are being cared for.

Aside from the lives lost, the most appalling disaster of the storm was the wrecking of stores and warehouses, which meant virtually all food supplies were destroyed. With railroad service paralyzed, it was feared incoming supplies would be greatly delayed. Some food supplies may come by water.

Virtual military rule prevails in Miami and other cities, but there is a shortage of troops.

The first relief train bearing 15 physicians, a corps of nurses, medicine and supplies and carrying two cars of drinking water arrived in Miami today.

With thousands of men, women and children in need, it was feared a crowd might storm the train. State militiamen, therefore, met the train and maintained constant vigil over the supplies.

Despite strict precautions, looting has occurred, and one man was shot by guards last night after he was caught pillaging in a destroyed office building.

A temporary field hospital and morgue base was established at 4 A. M. at Sebring, Fla., and 800 of the most seriously injured from the wrecked districts were assembled there. Reports said 40 were dead at Sebring.

In the small cities badly maimed victims were taken to emergency hospitals in railroad stations pending arrival of relief trains.

Physicians aboard the "hospital specials" passed from berth to berth administering to the more seriously hurt.

Scenes of abject sorrow in Miami followed the first relief from the storm.

At police headquarters where 30 unidentified dead had been removed, groups of anxious men and women moved in procession until guards compelled them to leave the streets at 6 P. M.

Temporary morgues were thronged with relatives of missing men and women.

Several women fainted. Reports from the west coast show that Tampa was lashed only by the tail of the hurricane. One hundred thousand dollars was the damage estimate there.

At Lakeland, the wind blew 50 miles an hour and 10 per cent of the orange, lemon and grapefruit crop was blown from the trees.

In Little River and Lemon City, hardly a structure escaped damage, but the loss of life apparently was not heavy.

Miami Shores seemed to have suffered less than any other community in that region.

In Ojus, Davie and Dania dozens of buildings were twisted and torn and there was much the same story of desolation there as in Miami and Hollywood.

CLOSING DAY OF THE RANGE FAIR

Hon. Edward P. Scallon Delivers Address and Praises Cooperative Spirit Shown

BAND MUSIC EXCELLENT

Joe Swindells Brings Gales of Laughter, Al Blood Plays His Country Dance Tunes

The second and closing day of the Cuyuna Range agricultural exhibition at the Crosby-Ironton high school gymnasium attracted as large a crowd as on the first day.

The Brainerd Dispatch distributed gratis among the farmers and other friends of the exposition a plentiful supply of the Saturday afternoon paper which describes the fair in full and many expressions of commendation were given for the enterprise and courtesy shown.

The address of the evening was delivered by Hon. Edward P. Scallon of Crosby, member of the legislature representing Crow Wing and Morrison counties. He praised the cooperative spirit shown and the wonderful exhibits which showed the wealth in agriculture.

He spoke of the ore of the Cuyuna range, which because of its magnificent quality, is now eagerly sought by furnace companies and others, thus giving this range employment when other areas, not blessed with the same kind of ore, are not so active.

He expressed appreciation to the rural communities which had made this fair possible. He praised the work of the local creamery, and the various farming ventures made successful. The Wm. Knapp Crosby-Ironton band which had donated its services received due measure of thanks, also the school board, Supt. Perkins, all the farmers and farm bureau units and others who had contributed to make the fair such a shining success.

"Never has anything been put on in this district which stirred up so much spirit and enthusiasm, and we are all preparing to see a greater fair next year," said Mr. Scallon.

In an interview with the Brainerd Dispatch later, Mr. Scallon said that more ground would undoubtedly be added to the high school grounds to be used as a demonstration plot to show what grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables can be raised, and affording concrete evidence to back up textbook studies in agriculture.

Joe Swindells gave another series of recitations and songs and his delivery and makeup brought gales of laughter from his auditors. At the request of many of his youthful admirers he repeated one of his recitations given previously.

Al Blood was announced as the winner of the old fiddlers contest and again favored the audience with selections. George Butler of the farm bureau spoke briefly.

Their Death Not in Vain

Probably the most disastrous Arctic expedition in history was that of Sir John Franklin of the British navy. Of the 129 confident and courageous explorers who sailed with him from England in the summer of 1845, not one returned. Yet this attempt to discover a route to the Pacific cannot be branded as a failure, for while the adventurers who set forth so hopefully in the Erebus and Terror perished wretchedly a few years later, disaster and death did not overtake them until they had achieved the main object of their voyage—the discovery of a channel of communication from Baffin bay to Bering strait. Thus did Franklin's volunteers realize the centuries-old dream of European navigators—the finding of a northwest passage. They were conquerors, even in death.—Dearborn Independent.

Royalty Rebuked

The phrase "There is no royal road to learning" is merely a modified form of Euclid's famous reply to King Ptolemy I of Egypt. It is said that Euclid founded the school of mathematics at Alexandria when that city was just becoming a center of learning. According to tradition, Ptolemy once asked the great mathematician whether there was not some easier way for him to learn geometry than by studying the "Elements," a work prepared by Euclid himself. Euclid replied: "There is no royal road to geometry."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Road Signs Old Idea

Road signs date back to the early history of the world. Many monuments have been unearthed by archeological expeditions in Crete, Asia Minor and the Greek Peloponnesus which show that the directional signs were in use even in the time of the legendary heroes of the Hellenic world. In the Roman forum is still preserved the "golden milestone," a pillar which was erected by Augustus, on which were carved the names of roads together with distances from Rome.

Rolls Up Like a Bait

A queer little animal from Australia is known as the echidna. Scientists claim that this curious creature is a link between the birds and true mammals. As an anteater it is a fine specimen of a porcupine, being completely covered with a coat of large spines, which serves as an armor. When the echidna is attacked where digging is impossible, it immediately tucks in its head and feet and rolls itself into a ball. If the ground is soft the echidna disappears rapidly and suddenly.

First Tea in Europe

Though reports of tea as a Chinese beverage had been received from Portuguese sources as early as 1517, the credit for its introduction from China into Europe belongs to the Dutch East India company, which imported a few pounds into Holland in 1610, and into England in 1655, says the Newark News. Apparently it was not until 1680 that the English East India company brought its first consignment, two canisters, weighing in all 143 pounds, from Bantam.

Washing the Feet

James II of England was the last king who performed the act of washing the feet of the poor. To quote the Chapel Royal Register: "On April 10, 1685, our gracious King James Ye 2d wash'd wip'd and kissed the feet of 52 poor men."

ASKS AMERICAN PEOPLE TO CONTRIBUTE TO RED CROSS
RELIEF FUNDS

CONSIDERS FLORIDA DISASTER A
MOST OVERWHELMING
ONE

Washington, Sept. 20.—(UP)—President Coolidge today called on the American people for generous contributions to Red Cross relief funds for Florida.

His proclamation follows:
"An overwhelming disaster has come to the people of Miami, Hollywood and surrounding communities in southern Florida. Such assistance as is within the means of the executive department of the government will be rendered, but realizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come, I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive, to distribute generously in aiding the sufferers of this disaster.

"That the utmost co-ordination and effectiveness in the administration of the relief funds may be obtained, I urge that all contributions for the purpose be sent to the American national Red Cross at Washington or to local Red Cross chapters.

"I need not assure the people that the Red Cross will utilize in the most effective manner all contributions received for relief in this disaster."

FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Some women are spending so much on the new handbags and pocketbooks that they have little money left for other accessories. And who can blame them?

Pocketbooks have never been so beautiful as they are this season and each costume must have its own harmoniously matched bag to be considered smart. Shapes of handbags vary from large or medium-sized envelopes to flat pouch effects. Bags with long strap handles are not as new or smart as those with short straps or disappearing ones. On many of the pouch bags we find the short strap handle which can be slipped down into the bag when one wishes the handle-less model.

Lizard and reptile skins of all sorts, calf's leather, suede, velvet, and even ostrich hide, is used in the making of the modern handbag. Black suede is particularly important this year and it is astonishing how many black bags are being sold. Chanel red, jungle green, tan and brown are other good bag colors which come in both suede and glazed leather styles. The large square envelope of suede with the flap outlined in tiny gilt clasps is new and smart. Some smaller envelope shapes are made exactly like envelopes being stitched to represent an envelope.

Velvet bags appeal to those who plan on wearing velvet costumes. Pouch shapes in velvet are not so good this year. The velvet bag may be trimmed in gilt or silver piping and adorned with a gold metal clasp set with brilliants or with a cut-steel clasp. Dull costume shades are those best liked for velvet models. A handsome dressy bag is made entirely of gilt leather in envelope shape. Stenciled effects on undressed leathers are among the novelties with plaid, mottled or modernistic designs on dull backgrounds.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—The worst of the tropical hurricane has passed over Pensacola and the wind has dropped to 80 miles an hour, from 100 miles an hour, the Southern Bell Telephone Company was informed at noon today by a radio message picked up at New Orleans. There were no details as to what damage had been done.

Telephone company reports from Mobile at noon said the wind there had risen to 90 miles an hour, a heavy rain was falling and the barometer had dropped to 29.12.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—Mobile is being whipped by an 84 mile wind and the intensity of the gale is expected to increase, but no serious damage has been done as yet, the Mobile Register advised over a long distance telephone at 11 A. M. today.

Nothing has been heard from Pensacola since 6 A. M., the Register said. At that time the city was being whipped by an 100 miles an hour gale.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—Messages from amateur radio operators in the Florida hurricane area to James Cobble, expert amateur here, today placed the storm dead at 1,000, but this figure was not confirmed from other sources.

More than 500 are dead in Miami alone, according to unconfirmed reports to Cobble.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—First direct communication between Birmingham and storm-stricken Miami, Fla., was established at 7:30 A. M. today.

The Western Union Telegraph Company this morning finally managed to get one wire through to the Florida city. Seven hundred messages were waiting here to be relayed to Miami, most of them from persons seeking to learn condition of relatives in the Florida metropolis.

the 50,000 people who have been left at least temporarily homeless.

Bread lines formed in three Florida towns which only last winter drew world wide attention because of their unprecedented prosperity. Red Cross stations were set up.

The first relief train reached Miami during the morning with surgeons, nurses, two car loads of water and quantities of hospital equipment and medical supplies.

Police, national guardsmen and volunteers took control of the situation and maintained virtual martial law in Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Miami, while in other towns such as Dania, Homestead, Coral Gables, Miami Shores, Sebring, Moorehaven and Clewiston, local organizations were in charge.

Refugees arrived throughout the day at West Palm Beach, apparently the nearest city to escape undamaged. They told of dead lying in the streets of Miami, Clewiston and other towns, of water shortages becoming serious, of the fear of disease intensified by the danger of a serious food shortage.

A field hospital has been established at Sebring, Fla., where more than 50 dead and many injured have been brought.

Reports from Sebring, where a temporary field hospital and morgue have been established, said the bodies of 40 men, women and children, who were drowned when the dam holding Lake Okeechobee collapsed, had been recovered at Moorehaven.

Automobilists report bodies strewn along the road from Moorehaven to Clewiston.

All night long trucks carrying rough boxes and food ploughed their way through the debris strewn road from West Palm Beach to Hollywood.

All other vehicles except those on official business were turned back.

Troops with fixed bayonets patrol the roads every few hundred yards. It is impossible to move without credentials from county and city police.

CONCRETE ROOF COLLAPSES; 2 MEN BURIED

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Collapse of the concrete roof of a garage buried two men under 20 tons of debris, killing them Sunday.

The dead were John C. Smith, 28, and John Dreher, 41, who were engaged in removing props which had held up the roof during its construction. Their bodies were removed from the wreckage badly mangled.

Rains of the past week had waterlogged the concrete and with the last supporting timber removed it collapsed and buried the men.

Intoxicated man to the county jail with his bayonet in the small of the prisoner's back, as proud of his capture as if he captured an attacking army single-handedly.

Thirty-three bodies have been recovered at Hollywood. The death list is expected to mount to at least 100.

At Hallandale near Hollywood, Mrs. J. H. Kimball and her two-weeks-old baby were drowned in an attempt to reach town from a houseboat.

Every member of one family of seven at Hollywood was killed when the walls of their concrete block house caved in on them. They were found huddled up in one room where they evidently had fled to escape the driving gale which had unroofed the house a few moments before.

In Royal Palm Park, Miami, a huge freighter is lying 400 yards from the bay high and dry.

On East Flagler Street bridge, Miami, more than 20 boats are packed under a structure in a huge pile of wreckage.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(UP)—Flood waters washed over thousands of acres of valuable agricultural land through Iowa today, following a week-end of recurring heavy rainfall.

Districts near Sioux City, Cedar Rapids and Des Moines were reported under water this morning. It was estimated that in the Des Moines area alone 2,000 persons were forced to abandon their homes as the waters from two rivers seeped over their banks and spread through the lowlands.

Twenty-five thousand acres are under water, the weather bureau at Des Moines estimated this morning.

Great property damage has been done. Crops were leveled by the beating rain, which around Des Moines continued through Sunday, and rail traffic is practically paralyzed.

At least five persons are known to have died as a result of the high waters and recurring storms.

The Work of the World

Approximately 2,842,000,000 gallons of gasoline were produced from heavier oils by the use of cracking processes in 1925, according to an information circular issued by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Assuming that 400 gallons of gasoline represents the fuel requirements of the average car per year, the Bureau of Mines' statement means that the development of cracking processes, in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a leader, was responsible in 1925 for adding to the world's output, a year's supply of gasoline for 7,060,000 automobiles.

Measured thus in terms of automobile transportation, the relation of the cracking process to modern life is readily understood. Its importance can be better appreciated by some knowledge of the problem it has helped to solve.

During the ten year period, 1916 to 1925, the production of crude oil increased 152% while the number of cars and trucks registered increased 472%.

A tremendous increase in demand for gasoline, the finished product, without a corresponding increase in the supply of crude, the raw material, presented a real problem.

Experts predicted there would not be enough gasoline to go around and that prices would soar prohibitively.

Today with approximately 21,000,000 registered automobiles in the country, it is obvious that their predictions would have materialized but for a revolutionary discovery.

Scientists in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) discovered and developed processes for producing gasoline by cracking which more than doubled the yield from crude oil.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) leased the processes which belonged to it exclusively, to competitors.

That the 21,000,000 motorists in the United States today are able to buy all the gasoline they need at a low price is due in large measure to the scientific work of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and its integrity of purpose in passing on the benefits of that work.

This important scientific service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is but one incident in its long record of unwavering loyalty to the motoring public.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of the work it has done, for it believes that any contribution to the work of the world—large or small—justifies a legitimate pride when it represents the utmost ability of an individual or an organization.

The extent of the service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) wishes to render to the thirty million people of the Middle West is limited only by its ability.

FORGET-ME-NOT DAY

SATURDAY, September 25, has been set for the national observance of Forget-Me-Not Day, arrangements for which are being conducted by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, with Minnesota headquarters at the Keith-Plaza Building, Minneapolis.

The sentimental interest that attaches to setting aside one day each year in memory of the living survivors of the World War will be re-aroused in every hamlet and city in the entire Nation through this organization; its membership is limited to those who have actually suffered a disability by reason of military service. In memory of those who lie in Flanders Fields yearly tribute is paid with the Poppy on Memorial Day. To the living, who bear on their bodies the marks of heroic service, all America will acknowledge the debt we owe by wearing the Forget-Me-Not on Argonne Day, September 25th.

Aside from sentiment, however, the little flower of remembrance will perform a more specific thing in making possible the continuance of a service, which means life itself to thousands of disabled ex-service men, who must have the help that can best come only from the Disabled Veterans' Organization, which operates nationally and as a unit in every state of the Union.

Briefly, the D. A. V., as it is commonly called, maintains in Washington, D. C., a staff of experts whose entire efforts are devoted toward securing legislation favorable to the maimed veterans and in obtaining the adjustment of the appeal claims of these veterans. In the Minnesota Regional Office of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, a like service is maintained by the D. A. V., for the specific purpose of giving personal service to Minnesotans in need of the sort of help that trained workers can give. When it is realized that there are in this State 14,000 service men whose claims have not yet been allowed, as against less than 9,000 whose claims have been allowed, then the need for the continuance of this service appears obvious. The figures for last year show that nearly a half million dollars was granted to deserving disabled service men, in Minnesota alone, through the efforts of the D. A. V. office in this State. The figure nationally is overwhelming in size. The work is conducted in a spirit of cooperation with the Veterans Bureau, which is frequently helpless to service on account of the Governmental red tape that must necessarily be incident to large offices handling thousands of complex claims, concerning persons rather than property.

Only recently has it been necessary for the D. A. V. to resort to an appeal to the public for help; surplus war funds of the Red Cross and of the Knights of Columbus, previously available and set aside for this purpose, have been exhausted; consequently the financial situation is one that can no longer be handled by the disabled men themselves.

The answer to it all is the sale of Forget-Me-Nots to the public on Saturday, September 25th. Cutting every possible expense, the State Department of the D. A. V. is in process of organizing the sale of the little flowers in every section of Minnesota.

Remembering the patriotic response with which every appeal has been answered in Brainerd, it is expected that the people of this community will not be forgetful of this opportunity to demonstrate in concrete fashion their gratitude to those for whom the War will never be finished, and thus to help make possible the continuance of their "Service—of, for, and by Disabled Veterans." The American Legion Auxiliary of Brainerd will be in charge of the appeal locally.

A REAL OLD TIME FIDDLER

ALLEN BLOOD won the first prize in the old fiddlers' contest held last week at the Cuyuna Range Fair at Crosby-Ironton high school. He fiddled his way right into the hearts of his auditors and set hundreds of feet to the self-appointed task of tapping the floor and keeping time to his music.

Mr. Blood was born at St. Cloud October 7, 1862. He followed the woods and river for 24 years and is well known to a host of old time river men and woodsmen. He has lived in Crow Wing county for the last 23 years. He was married to Mary A. Oaks of St. Cloud March 2, 1884, and to them were born 15 children, seven boys and eight girls, of whom four boys and six girls are living.

Mr. and Mrs. Blood are both hale and hearty and at present are grandparents to 19 grandchildren. There are hardly any old timers in Stearns and Benton counties who have not danced old time dances to his music and a good many in this county also. May Al Blood live long to fiddle for the present and coming generations.

The Brainerd Dispatch heard Al fiddle at the Crosby-Ironton high school and can testify that he has the class, the repertoire and the fiddling punch that wins his audience.

MAGNUS JOHNSON told his audience at Mahnomen last week that it cost 62 cents a pound to produce butter fat and that farmers were losing approximately 20 cents a pound on every pound they sold. Yet more new creameries have been built in Minnesota in the last two years than ever before. Probably built on what the dairymen lost.—Mahnomen Pioneer.

THE 1925 Agricultural Yearbook is now available for distribution and a copy of same may be obtained by communicating with Congressman Harold Knutson at St. Cloud, Minn.

THIS country is claimed to be getting overcrowded, and the front seats of some automobiles operated by the younger element certainly look so.—Mottley Mercury.

THE New York-Paris flight from New York has changed from a non-stop to a non-start flight on account of inclement weather.

It's a sad event in many a household when the young hopefuls realize that pa and ma do not know as much as the teacher.

EUROPE'S tax percentage is double since the World war, while the United States' proportion has decreased.

THE "poc-o-o-ee" call which summons the pigs to dinner is something not to be pood at by the pigs.

MOST of children's headaches are due to eyestrain, so doctors report.

Attorney L. E. Lum arrived in the city this afternoon from the east. Miss Maude Davis returned this afternoon from an extended eastern trip.

The firm of Cleary, McGinnis & Hemstead ever up-to-date have decided already to branch out and some arrangements have been completed whereby they will handle fruit at wholesale as well as groceries. They have already received several carloads of fruit and are moving in today. The firm will necessarily employ more help and next season it is probable that two more men will be put on the road to sell fruit exclusively.

DE RIVERA TO COPE WITH KING ALFONSO

PREMIER TO MATCH STRENGTH
AGAINST THE SPANISH
MONARCH

MOMENTOUS RESULTS, END OF
DICTATOR OR ABDICATION
OF KING

Hendaye, Spanish Frontier, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Premier Primo de Rivera will match his strength against King Alfonso at a council meeting at San Sebastian today, which is expected to result either in the resignation of the dictator or the eventual abdication of the king. Indications favor the ousting of Primo de Rivera.

Rivera, who for three years has dictated the government of Spain without a parliament, will submit for the king's approval two projects which are expected to meet flat refusal.

Accompanied by his entire suite, Rivera has arrived at San Sebastian to ask for the king's signature to the two bills, one establishing a parliament along lines designated by the premier, the other providing for the complete reorganization of the Spanish army, particularly the artillery branch, which has caused the dictator so much trouble recently.

King Alfonso has received messages from several prominent politicians threatening to overthrow the monarchy if he signs the parliamentary decree and thus align himself with the dictator as an absolute rather than a constitutional monarch. Also, the artillery officers, supported by some divisions of the infantry, have threatened revolt and if the king signs Rivera's army reorganization decree, it seems certain that trouble may be expected from this quarter.

With tremendous support aligned against Rivera, it is not likely that Alfonso's refusal of Rivera's decrees would force the monarch to abdicate.

General Berenguer, whom Rivera deposed as high commissioner in Morocco, will succeed as premier if Rivera resigns as he must in the face of Alfonso's refusal to approve his bills.

Berenguer, long a bitter enemy of the dictator, has been in the entire confidence of the king.

Colleen Moore Scores New Hit at Lyceum

Topping her other splendid performances in a story full of amusing surprises and human touches, Colleen Moore scored again at the Lyceum theatre in her latest First National production, "It Must Be Love," which opened to a crowded house yesterday and will be shown again tonight.

Colleen Moore and Jean Herscholt in "It Must Be Love."

There is a pert, yet wistful, air about this star which fits admirably into such a story as "It Must Be Love." As the misunderstood daughter of a delicatessen merchant Colleen carried every member of the audience with her in many moods. A droop of the mouth, and many mouths drooped in the audience. A twirl on the toe and a birdlike gesture with the pantomimic hands, and the audience howled with delight.

Did Adam Die With Gout?

In the library at the Herald's college, London, England, is a queer Sixteenth-century document, the history of which is unknown. It professes to trace the pedigree of the early Saxon kings right back to Adam and Eve, among the names of those appearing in the genealogy being our Lord, Alexander, and Nebuchadnezzar. It contains some beautifully executed and well-preserved pen and ink drawings of subjects which include the fall, the building of the tower of Babel, and the ark. Adam is stated to have died from "gout" and to have been buried at Hebron. The document has been in the possession of the Herald's college for 200 years.

"The Latch String Is Out"

The first example to be found of the use of the phrase, the latch-string is out, dates from 1887. It was the creation of some journalist who wrote for the Pall Mall Gazette, London, January 8, page 6, column 2: "We have hung our latch-string out to you and yours." In 1893 the Advance, of Chicago, for March 16, page 209, wrote: "Our latch-string is out has become a classical expression of cordial hospitality."

Tiny Testaments

The smallest Testament in the world is owned by a lady at Hemel Hempstead, Herts, England. It measures only 3/4 of an inch square and 1/4 of an inch thick. The next smallest is 3/4 by 1/2 inch. The owner states that her New Testament, dated 1895, and published by David Bryce, of Glasgow, contains 540 pages, and is printed "on the very thinnest Oxford paper ever made. It is included in a small metal case fitted with a magnifying glass in the lid."

New Orleans Creole
Proud and Clannish

The ire of many a "Creole" has been provoked because the innocent tourist thinks the word means "of colored blood," say the Pendleton East Oregonian.

"Creole," the native Orleanian will tell you, means "of French and Spanish." The Creole is one who is born away from his country—whatever that country may be. The New Orleans Creole is considered the city's finest product. The women are lovely. The men are brave. They have charming manners. They are exclusive. They are clannish. They have their own language, their own society, and their own customs.

The New Orleans Creole speaks a pure French. The reason "Creole" has been misunderstood is because their slaves spoke a Creole dialect, bearing about the same relation to pure French as the southern Negro talk does to English purely spoken. Then, there was the Acadian French, or "Cajon" French, as spoken in the outlying districts of Louisiana. And "Gumbo" French—that means simply French incorrectly spoken.

English Choir Sings
to Old Hurdy-Gurdy

Barrel organs or hurdy-gurdies were used in English churches in the early Eighteenth century to support the choir. The only elaborate specimen surviving today, and still in use, is to be found in the parish church of Trottiscliffe, near Wrotham, in Kent.

These barrel organs were quite as popular in rural churches that could not afford the luxury of an organ as were the music boxes of the period in European drawing rooms. Failing either an organ or a hurdy-gurdy, village church choirs usually relied on two or three-piece orchestras for Sunday services. These orchestras were placed in the gallery over the entrance.

Trottiscliffe's barrel organ must have been one of the finest in its heyday, for it has a repertoire of sixty hymn tunes. It has recently been repaired and its handle is still turned by the sexton for Sunday services and weddings. The tone of this ancient instrument is unusually sweet.

Accounts for Fools' Day

But for the changing of the calendar in 1564, April 1 might never have become All Fools' day. Several explanations have been offered as to the fixing of April 1 as the date for perpetrating practical jokes, but the changed calendar appears to be most probable. In 1564 New Year's day was shifted from March 25 to January 1. Before the alteration, the New Year festivities lasted eight days, ending on April 1. This final day was one set apart for paying visits and making gifts. When the alteration was made, muddle-headed folk became confused and were easy prey for the sophisticated, who sent them out on fool's errands, making calls and carrying gifts, on the day of the discarded celebration. Thus the custom became the seed from which April Fool sprang.—New York Times.

Odd Rain-Making Device

As a pendant to the reaction of plants to weather the curious Seventeenth century belief in the weather's reaction to plants might be mentioned. Then it was the common practice to set fire to growing ferns in the belief that rain would follow.

Such implicit faith was placed in this expedient that when Charles I. arranged to visit Staffordshire, the earl of Pembroke and Montgomery wrote to the high sheriff of the county commanding him to stop the burning of ferns as his majesty was "desirous that the country and himself should enjoy fair weather as long as he remains in these parts."

In this custom, by the way, the Devonshire practice of "firing the bracken" took its rise.—London Mail.

Typewriting to Music

In a certain college in London, England, girls learn typewriting to the accompaniment of fox trots and military marches. If a girl has a good sense of rhythm, this system hastens the early stages of training in a remarkable way. Gramophone records are used, and pupils first type words of three letters to a military march in four-four time, one letter to a beat and the space movement to the fourth. Progress is then made in words of different lengths, until finally whole sentences are typed. When speed increases, students type two letters to each beat. The idea behind this system is that regular rhythmic movements are less tiring than irregular ones, which waste the worker's energy.

Quality first, last and all the time at prices that are always as low as they can be made and leave a fair margin of profit.

That sentence sums up the business practice of Mr. Penney back in 1902 when he was laying the foundation for the present great family of Department Stores, which bear his name and of which this Store is a member.

That practice equally applies to the operations today of this Store and every Store in this coast-to-coast organization.

If it is ever said of the quality of our goods that it is "cheap," it is because the speaker is not acquainted with the peerless character of our values and therefore, is not qualified to discuss them.

DE RIVERA TO COPE WITH KING ALFONSO

PREMIER TO MATCH STRENGTH
AGAINST THE SPANISH
MONARCH

MOMENTOUS RESULTS, END OF
DICTATOR OR ABDICATION
OF KING

Hendaye, Spanish Frontier, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Premier Primo de Rivera will match his strength against King Alfonso at a council meeting at San Sebastian today, which is expected to result either in the resignation of the dictator or the eventual abdication of the king. Indications favor the ousting of Primo de Rivera.

Rivera, who for three years has dictated the government of Spain without a parliament, will submit for the king's approval two projects which are expected to meet flat refusal.

Accompanied by his entire suite, Rivera has arrived at San Sebastian to ask for the king's signature to the two bills, one establishing a parliament along lines designated by the premier, the other providing for the complete reorganization of the Spanish army, particularly the artillery branch, which has caused the dictator so much trouble recently.

King Alfonso has received messages from several prominent politicians threatening to overthrow the monarchy if he signs the parliamentary decree and thus align himself with the dictator as an absolute rather than a constitutional monarch. Also, the artillery officers supported by some divisions of the infantry, have threatened revolt and if the king signs Rivera's army reorganization decree, it seems certain that trouble may be expected from this quarter.

With tremendous support aligned against Rivera, it is not likely that Alfonso's refusal of Rivera's decrees would force the monarch to abdicate.

General Berenguer, whom Rivera deposed as high commissioner in Morocco, will succeed as premier if Rivera resigns as he must in the face of Alfonso's refusal to approve his bills.

Berenguer, long a bitter enemy of the dictator, has been in the entire confidence of the king.

Colleen Moore Scores New Hit at Lyceum

Topping her other splendid performances in a story full of amusing surprises and human touches, Colleen Moore scored again at the Lyceum theatre in her latest First National production, "It Must Be Love," which opened to a crowded house yesterday and will be shown again tonight.

Colleen Moore and Jean Hersholt in "It Must Be Love"

There is a pert, yet wistful, air about this star which fits admirably into such a story as "It Must Be Love." As the misunderstood daughter of a delicatessen merchant Colleen carried every member of the audience with her in many moods. A droop of the mouth, and many mouths drooped in the audience. A twirl on the toe and a birdlike gesture with the pantomimic hands, and the audience howled with delight.

Did Adam Die With Gout?

In the library at the Herald's college, London, England, is a queer Sixteenth-century document, the history of which is unknown. It professes to trace the pedigree of the early Saxon kings right back to Adam and Eve, among the names of those appearing in the genealogy being our Lord, Alexander, and Nebuchadnezzar. It contains some beautifully executed and well-preserved pen and ink drawings of subjects which include the fall, the building of the tower of Babel, and the ark. Adam is stated to have died from "gout" and to have been buried at Hebron. The document has been in the possession of the Herald's college for 200 years.

Conway Tearle "The Sporting Lover"

Conway Tearle, popular screen lover, makes his latest screen appearance in "The Sporting Lover," at the Lyceum Tuesday. This is an adaptation of the famous Drury Lane stage hit "Good Luck." "The Sporting Lover" gives Tearle the character of Captain Terence Connaughton, who has inherited a rusticated Irish castle and a lot of mortgages and debts from his ancestors and faces the problems of service in the war and of making his own living. The picture unfolds a story of romance, horse racing and wartime sacrifice.

"The Latch String Is Out"

The first example to be found of the use of the phrase, the latch-string is out, dates from 1887. It was the creation of some journalist who wrote for the Pall Mall Gazette, London, January 8, page 6, column 2: "We have hung our latch-string out to you and yours." In 1893 the Advance, of Chicago, for March 16, page 200, wrote: "Our latch-string is out has become a classical expression of cordial hospitality."

The smallest Testament in the world is owned by a lady at Hemel Hempstead, Herts, England. It measures only 1/8 of an inch square and 1/4 of an inch thick. The next smallest is 3/8 by 1/2 inch. The owner states that her New Testament, dated 1895, and published by David Bryce, of Glasgow, contains 540 pages, and is printed on the very thinnest Oxford paper ever made. It is enclosed in a small metal case fitted with a magnifying glass in the lid.

New Orleans Creole

Proud and Clannish

The fire of many a "Creole" has been provoked because the innocent tourist thinks the word means "of colored blood," say the Pendleton East Oregonian.

"Creole," the native Orleanian will tell you, means "of French and Spanish." The Creole is one who is born away from his country—whatever that country may be. The New Orleans Creole is considered the city's finest product. The women are lovely. The men are brave. They have charming manners. They are exclusive. They are clannish. They have their own language, their own society, and their own customs.

The New Orleans Creole speaks a pure French. The reason "Creole" has been misunderstood is because their slaves spoke a Creole dialect, bearing about the same relation to pure French as the southern Negro talk does to English purely spoken. Then, there was the Acadian French, or "Cajun" French, as spoken in the outlying districts of Louisiana. And "Gumbo" French—that means simply French incorrectly spoken.

DEMPSEY CHARGED ADMISSION

OLD TIMERS WONDER WHAT
KIND OF A "BIRD" CHAL-
LENGER CAN BE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 20.—Gene Tunney, aspiring for the heavyweight championship of the world, has been confiding to friends and casual visitors that he loves a place close to nature where he could look at inspiring landscapes, breathe mountain air with a scent of pines and read his books.

And he certainly picked a place where he could do all these things when he selected the Glenbrook Golf club to prepare himself for his fight against Jack Dempsey next Thursday.

The atmosphere here is much more refreshing and vastly different from the commercial attitude of Atlantic City and Dempsey's camp.

Dempsey, educated to commercialism by Jack Kearns, his former manager, charged admission to his training camp in the dog park at Atlantic City and although he barred paid customers for the last week of his training, he made enough money to pay all his training camp expenses and considering the fact that he had such helpers as Tommy Loughran, Martin Burke, Bill Tate and a staff of advisers, including Gene Normie, Captain Mabutt, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Gus Wilson, a couple of cooks and a flock of detectives from New York and Chicago on their vacations, the bills must have been plenty.

Tunney refused to charge admission to those who wanted to see him train and the old timers, wised to the modern game of getting money under any excuse, wondered and asked among themselves, what's the matter with this bird?

Dempsey has two sparring partners, Tommy Loughran and Martin Burke, who could give Tunney a whale of a fight themselves and in Bill Tate he has a sparring partner who has challenged Harry Wills as many times as Wills has challenged the champion.

The sparring staff that Tunney has with him is just that Bud Gorman, who was Tom Gibbons' chief sparring partner when he was training to fight Dempsey in Shelby, is the best man on Tunney's staff and Gorman, a fine fellow and a great football player, cannot hit. Tunney is training to meet a great hitter and he hasn't anyone in his camp who can hit him with any kind of force. Tunney looks fine. Today he probably is bigger by dimensions than Dempsey but he has this to figure—that Dempsey always has made his best fights against men who were so big that he had to look up to them. Dempsey's greatest fights were against Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo and was a midge in comparison to them. Willard, however, could hit and so could Firpo and Tunney can't hit.

Reds Have Chance to Tie in National League Pennant Race

Boston, Sept. 20.—(UP)—With a chance to tie St. Louis in the race for the National League pennant, the Cincinnati Reds sent Eppa Rixey to the mound in the first game of a double-header here today.

The Braves' choice for pitcher was Larry Benton.

In the first inning Christenson walked, Walker bunted. Roush's bunt forced Christenson. Pipp forced Roush, Cooney to Bancroft. Dresden singled to center, Walker scoring. Clitz tied to Walsh.

High got a home run in the second inning, evening the score.

In the fifth, Rixey singled, advanced when Christenson walked and scored on Walker's single.

Zitzman muffed High's liner in the eighth to let in Bancroft and Welsh, who reached base on a double and a walk respectively.

Luque Hurls Second Game

Boston, Mass., Sept. 20.—Smarting under a 4 to 3 defeat in the first half of a double-header here today, the second place Cincinnati Reds sent Adolfo Luque to the mound against the Boston Braves in the second game. R. Smith hurled for the Braves.

The tide was in her favor. It was reported that Horace Grey, an Englishman, had abandoned the swim.

Clavilux Plays for Eye

The clavilux is an organ-like instrument that plays light on a screen for the eye, just as music is played into the air for the ear. The instrument blends the qualities of color and of light—now rising and falling in soft gradation, now marshaled in full, impressive splendor, now fading into abrupt darkness. Sonatas of light and symphonies of color are thus made possible.

OPINION OF EXPERTS BEHIND DEMPSEY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Jack Dempsey probably will be the heaviest picked favorite that ever defended a heavyweight championship when he enters the ring here Thursday night against Gene Tunney.

This does not mean that the betting odds on him will be higher than there were on any other heavyweight champion but that the opinion of the experts will be more solidly behind him even than it was thrown to the support of Jess Willard before he fought Dempsey and lost the title.

There seems to be few against everyone who gives the challenger a chance and even more against those who have risked the opinion or the money that Tunney will win the championship.

What is the reason? Tunney is slightly larger than Dempsey and is just as strong. He has had experience and no one doubts his courage. He seems to have cultivated a Joan of Arc conviction that he is destined to be the next champion. He can box and he isn't such a feeble puncher.

Dempsey's backers will grant you that but they will call your attention to something in these words:

"Dempsey is a natural fighter and Tunney is a manufactured one."

They also give their opinion that Tunney is strictly a counter fighter and build for Dempsey's style of attack. Also that Tunney hasn't the powerful attack of the champion and that he hasn't a double barreled attack like Dempsey.

They laugh off the suggestion that Dempsey may not be the fighting machine that he was three years ago and insist that Dempsey couldn't have gone back far enough to become such a poor fighter that Tunney could beat him.

Put the question to them: "Who did Dempsey ever lick?" and they will tell you: "Dempsey wouldn't let the guys that Tunney has licked into his camp as sparring partners."

So it goes on and the ferocity of the argument leads to another question: "If it is such a poor match and the public knows it, where did they sell all those tickets?"

And the reply is: "You know—the old ballyhoo."

It seems after all that the public is interested in spectacles, that it isn't the fighters so much as the fight, that there are thousands prompted only by the curious desire to "be there when—" but Rickard certainly sold the fight to the public.

The experts shouted that Carpentier would be massacred by Dempsey and the experts shouted that the society for the prevention of something or other should have stepped in and saved the lamb Firpo from slaughter.

But many of these same experts laughed at Dempsey before the Toledo fight and wanted to spare Tom Gibbons from Dempsey for the sake of the handsome little Gibbons children.

There is no intent included here to pick a winner. That will have to be done on the day of the fight because it is a newspaper routine to pick a winner even if the writer doesn't want to do it.

Dempsey says that any big man with a fair punch is dangerous and he means what he says. It would seem to be logical that Tunney has at least a chance and that the longer he remains on his feet the better his chances will be. It certainly looks as if Tunney has more of a chance than Firpo or Carpentier but that may be no chance at all if you care to look at it that way.

But whatever happens don't be one of those who may say that it was a dive.

TEAMS WILL BATTLE TO OVER-
COME TIE GAME
HOO-D00

WIN FOR N. E. WILL DECIDE THE
CITY CHAMPIONSHIP FOR YEAR

The city series will resume play again tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when N. E. and the Y. M. C. A. will gather for another battle at the municipal diamond. The good weather of the last two days has dried the field in fine shape, and a fast game is looked for.

A victory for N. E. will mean the deciding of the city championship for the year, as they have already won one game, the last two games being tie scores. The Y. M. C. A. is equally determined to turn in a win, and thereby stay in the race.

Van Walk is slated to pitch for N. E. and will endeavor to keep up the fast pace he has set in the games already played. For the Y. M. C. A. Engbretson will likely get the call.

Fans are invited to see the game tomorrow night. The time is set early to permit the playing of the full seven innings in the light, and in case of necessity, an extra inning or two.

SHEELY OF WHITE SOX FINE AT FIRST

Classed With Topnotchers in Junior League.

In Earl Sheely, the White Sox boast one of the best first basemen in the American league. While not an all-around player of the Sleser type, the big fellow nevertheless can handle his position as well with almost any of them. And that's saying a bit, considering that chaps like the Browns' manager, Lu Blue, Joe Judge, Lou Gehrig and so on inhabit the same circuit.

This is Sheely's fifth season in the majors. He joined the Sox in 1921, after the Comiskey outfit had been practically ruined owing to the 1919 world series scandal. Sheely was obtained from the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league, where a batting average of .371 in 1920 had attracted the scouts.

From the start the tall boy made good. And he has been improving ever since. He was in 113 double plays, and had more putouts and more assists than any other initial corner guard. Sheely was in 156 games, more than any other American league player participated in.

Sheely played his first professional baseball with Vancouver in the Northwestern league, back in 1912. Since then he has been with several clubs in various leagues. Outside of a few games which he worked behind the plate during his minor league regime, he has always performed around the first cushion.

DEMPSEY CHARGED ADMISSION TO TRAINING CAMP, TUN-

OLD TIMERS WONDER WHAT
KIND OF A "BIRD" CHAL-
LENGER CAN BE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 20.—Gene Tunney, aspiring for the heavyweight championship of the world, has been confiding to friends and casual visitors that he loves a place close to nature where he could look at inspiring landscapes, breathe mountain air with a scent of pines and read his books.

And he certainly picked a place where he could do all these things when he selected the Glenbrook Golf club to prepare himself for his fight against Jack Dempsey next Thursday.

The atmosphere here is much more refreshing and vastly different from the commercial attitude of Atlantic City and Dempsey's camp.

Dempsey, educated to commercialism by Jack Kearns, his former manager, charged admission to his training camp in the dog park at Atlantic City and although he barred paid customers for the last week of his training, he made enough money to pay all his training camp expenses and considering the fact that he had such helpers as Tommy Loughran, Martin Burke, Bill Tate and a staff of advisers, including Gene Normile, Captain Mabutt, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Gus Wilson, a couple of cooks and a flock of detectives from New York and Chicago on their vacations, the bills must have been plenty.

Tunney refused to charge admission to those who wanted to see him train and the old timers, wised to the modern game of getting money under any excuse, wondered and asked among themselves, what's the matter with this bird?

Dempsey has two sparring partners, Tommy Loughran and Martin Burke, who could give Tunney a whale of a fight themselves and in Bill Tate he has a sparring partner who has challenged Harry Wills as many times as Wills has challenged the champion.

The sparring staff that Tunney has with him is just that Bud Gorman, who was Tom Gibbons' chief sparring partner when he was training to fight Dempsey in Shelby, is the best man on Tunney's staff and Gorman, a fine fellow and a great football player, cannot hit. Tunney is training to meet a great hitter and he hasn't anyone in his camp who can hit him with any kind of force. Tunney looks fine. Today he probably is bigger by dimensions than Dempsey but he has this to figure—that Dempsey always has made his best fights against men who were so big that he had to look up to them. Dempsey's greatest fights were against Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo and was a midjet in comparison to them. Willard, however, could hit and so could Firpo and Tunney can't hit.

Reds Have Chance to Tie in National League Pennant Race

Boston, Sept. 20.—(UP)—With a chance to tie St. Louis in the race for the National League pennant, the Cincinnati Reds sent Eppa Rixey to the mound in the first game of a double-header here today.

The Braves' choice for pitcher was Larry Benton.

In the first inning Christenson walked, Walker bunted. Roush's hunt forced Christenson. Pipp forced Roush, Cooney to Bancroft. Dressen singled to center, Walker scoring. Critz fled to Walsh.

High got a home run in the second inning, evening the score.

In the fifth, Rixey singled, advanced when Christenson walked and scored on Walker's single.

Zitzman muffed High's liner in the eighth to let in Bancroft and Welsh, who reached base on a double and a walk respectively.

Luque Hurls Second Game

Boston, Mass., Sept. 20.—Smarting under a 4 to 3 defeat in the first half of a double-header here today, the second game Cincinnati Reds sent Adolfo Luque to the mound against the Boston Braves in the second game. R. Smith hurled for the Braves.

Fence Styles Now Limited

The Chicago White Sox made a clean sweep of their five game series with the Red Sox from Boston, winning yesterday's game 6 to 3.

The tide was in her favor. It was reported that Horace Grey, an Englishman, had abandoned the swim.

Clavilux Plays for Eye

The clavilux is an organ-like instrument that plays light on a screen for the eye, just as music is played into the air for the ear. The instrument blends the qualities of color and of light—now rising and falling in soft gradation, now marshaled in full, impressive splendor, now fading into abrupt darkness. Sonatas of light and symphonies of color are thus made possible.

OPINION OF EXPERTS BEHIND DEMPSEY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Jack Dempsey probably will be the heaviest picked favorite that ever defended a heavyweight championship when he enters the ring here Thursday night against Gene Tunney.

This does not mean that the betting odds on him will be higher than there were on any other heavyweight champion but that the opinion of the experts will be more solidly behind him even than it was thrown to the support of Jess Willard before he fought Dempsey and lost the title.

There seems to be few against everyone who gives the challenger a chance and even more against those who have risked the opinion or the money that Tunney will win the championship.

What is the reason?
Tunney is slightly larger than Dempsey and is just as strong. He has had experience and no one doubts his courage. He seems to have cultivated a Joan of Arc conviction that he is destined to be the next champion. He can box and he isn't such a feeble puncher.

Dempsey's backers will grant you that but they will call your attention to something in these words:

"Dempsey is a natural fighter and Tunney is a manufactured one."

They also give their opinion that Tunney is strictly a counter fighter and build for Dempsey's style of attack. Also that Tunney hasn't the powerful attack of the champion and that he hasn't a double barreled attack like Dempsey.

They laugh off the suggestion that Dempsey may not be the fighting machine that he was three years ago and insist that Dempsey couldn't have gone back far enough to become such a poor fighter that Tunney could beat him.

Put the question to them: "Who did Dempsey ever lick?" and they will tell you: "Dempsey wouldn't let the guys that Tunney has licked into his camp as sparring partners."

So it goes on and the ferocity of the argument leads to another question: "If it is such a poor match and the public knows it, where did they sell all those tickets?"

And the reply is: "You know—the old ballyhoo."

It seems after all that the public is interested in spectacles, that it isn't the fighters so much as the fight, that there are thousands prompted only by the curious desire to "be there when—" but Rickard certainly sold the fight to the public.

The experts shouted that Carpentier would be massacred by Dempsey and the experts shouted that the society for the prevention of something or other should have stepped in and saved the lamb Firpo from slaughter.

But many of these same experts laughed at Dempsey before the Toledo fight and wanted to spare Tom Gibbons from Dempsey for the sake of the handsome little Gibbons children.

There is no intent included here to pick a winner. That will have to be done on the day of the fight because it is a newspaper routine to pick a winner even if the writer doesn't want to do it.

Dempsey says that any big man with a fair punch is dangerous and he means what he says. It would seem to be logical that Tunney has at least a chance and that the longer he remains on his feet the better his chances will be. It certainly looks as if Tunney has more of a chance than Firpo or Carpentier but that may be no chance at all if you care to look at it that way.

But whatever happens don't be one of those who may say that it was a dive.

WOMENS CLUBS IN PROFITABLE MEETING

Americanization Pageant Secures Favorable Newspaper Mention

BRAINERD WOMEN ATTEND

"Conservation of Forests" Exhibit Put on by Mrs. J. A. Thabes

The Brainerd delegates to the thirty-second annual meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs which was held at Morris, Sept. 15, 16, 17 have returned and report most enjoyable and instructive sessions. The two federated clubs in Morris, the Women's Literary club and the Student's club assisted by the business men of that city were hosts to the gathering.

Those that attended from Brainerd were the Mesdames D. E. Whitney, A. C. Weber, J. A. Thabes, E. J. Quinn, Earl Koop, Arthur Turcotte, C. M. Richards and Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby.

The Minneapolis Journal of Thursday, Sept. 16, carries pictures, "club women find time for play at Federation in Morris," which consist of scenes of the Americanization pageant which was held at the convention and includes in the group of club women Mrs. J. A. Thabes of Brainerd and Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby, both dressed in foreign costumes. The pageant was very interesting and beautiful, lasting for over an hour. Mrs. E. J. Quinn assisted in the staging of the pageant and practically all of the Brainerd women took part in its presentation.

An exhibit at the convention which proved a very great attraction and of immense educational value was that put on by Mrs. Thabes, of Brainerd on the conservation of forests in Minnesota. Mrs. Thabes, who is a noted local naturalist, is the sixth district chairman for conservation and after urgent requests, personally put on the exhibit which proved to be the first real conservation exhibit which has ever been shown at a state federation convention.

The booth, beautifully decorated in autumn foliage and evergreens that had been imported from the Brainerd district, with artistically arranged baskets and vases of wild flowers, that are now in season, presented a striking appearance.

One hundred carefully mounted specimens of wild flowers, personally mounted by Mrs. Thabes, three beautiful large bird charts from the National Audubon society, donated by the State game and fish commission; 25 nature books on birds, flowers, insects etc., from the personal library of Mrs. Thabes; an attractive display of native grasses prepared by Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby and a very fine collection of nature magazines consisting of practically one of every kind published in the United States, were a few of the interesting things of the exhibit.

Another display that added very materially to the exhibit was a collection of woods that are used in the manufacture of news print and book paper, the former donated by The Northwest Paper Co. of Brainerd and the latter by The Northwest Paper Co. of Cloquet. The various stages through which wood must pass in order to become paper was shown, enabling spectators to gain a fair knowledge of the many processes that wood must undergo before becoming the finished product. The Brainerd Dispatch purchases its paper from The Northwest Paper Co. and a good example of news print paper is that which the reader is now holding.

Kampmann and Son of Brainerd also donated an interesting display of woods that are used in the manufacturing of various articles and also for indoor furnishings.

An astounding revelation produced by the exhibit was the fact that native to Northern Minnesota, are 47 different kinds of natural woods which consist of the following named varieties: norway pine, white pine, scrub pine, white spruce, red spruce, birch white, sweet birch, red birch, white poplar, silver leaf poplar, balsam of gilead, red oak, white oak, black oak, white ash, black ash, red maple, hard maple, striped maple, tamarack red cedar, white cedar, balsam fir, speckled alder, American alder, smooth alder, wild plum, white cherry, red cherry (pin cherry) choke cherry, June berry, iron wood, slippery elm, hoary willow, diamond willow, slender willow, bass wood, highbush cranberry, hobblebush, round leaf dogwood, red osier dogwood, arrow wood, maple leaved Viburnum, cockspur thorn, smooth sumach, moose wood.

A sample of each of the woods had been carefully prepared by a patient at the Walker sanatorium.

A small birdhouse containing votes cast by visitors at the exhibit for their choice of the Minnesota State bird proved that the robin and meadow lark shared about even honors.

E. H. Rhodes district forest ranger and C. M. Roberts of the State Forestry department were very instrumental in making the exhibit a success and the State Federation greatly appreciated their co-operation and the fact that the state department allowed two of their men to devote their time to make the exhibit the success that it was.

Mr. Vibert of the Arrowhead institute of Duluth spoke on the proposed amendment to the state constitution on reforestation which, at the fall elections will read on the ballot as follows:

"Amendment to the constitution of Minnesota by adding thereto a new article, to be appropriately numbered in the order of its adoption, authorizing the enactment of laws encouraging and promoting reforestation and reforestation of lands in this state, whether owned by private persons or the public, including the fixing in advance of a definite and limited annual tax on such lands for a term of years and a yield tax at or after the end of such terms on the timber and other forest products so grown, but the taxation of mineral deposits shall not be affected by this amendment."

Holding that the adoption of this amendment which is to be submitted at the November election is contingent on educating the voters to its importance, the conservation committee will particularly stress its passing in its fall activities. Two years ago a similar amendment was submitted at the general election. It required a majority of all the votes cast in the election and while it was approved by a great majority of those who voted on the question, so many neglected to consider it that it was lost by a relatively narrow margin. Adoption of the amendment in itself fixes no tax rate or policy, but merely authorizes the legislation to enact such laws as may be deemed expedient to encourage the planning or forest lands.

One of the big features of the convention and exhibit was to give out information concerning Minnesota's natural resources and to bring people alive to the fact that our forests are fast diminishing. This was in part accomplished by the 44 lbs. of forestry literature which was donated by the American Tree association and a truck load of literature donated by the state forestry department and which was distributed to the delegates.

A local exhibit is being planned for the future and it may be possible to present parts of the Morris exhibit in a showing here.

WOMENS CLUBS IN PROFITABLE MEETING

Americanization Pageant Secures Favorable Newspaper Mention

BRAINERD WOMEN ATTEND

"Conservation of Forests" Exhibit Put on by Mrs. J. A. Thabes

The Brainerd delegates to the thirty-second annual meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs which was held at Morris, Sept. 15, 16, 17 have returned and report most enjoyable and instructive sessions. The two federated clubs in Morris, the Women's Literary club and the Student's club assisted by the business men of that city were hosts to the gathering.

Those that attended from Brainerd were the Mesdames D. E. Whitney, A. C. Weber, J. A. Thabes, E. J. Quinn, Earl Koop, Arthur Turcotte, C. M. Richards and Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby.

The Minneapolis Journal of Thursday, Sept. 16, carries pictures, "club women find time for play at Federation in Morris," which consist of scenes of the Americanization pageant which was held at the convention and includes in the group of club women Mrs. J. A. Thabes of Brainerd and Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby, both dressed in foreign costumes. The pageant was very interesting and beautiful, lasting for over an hour. Mrs. E. J. Quinn assisted in the staging of the pageant and practically all of the Brainerd women took part in its presentation.

An exhibit at the convention which proved a very great attraction and of immense educational value was that put on by Mrs. Thabes, of Brainerd on the conservation of forests in Minnesota. Mrs. Thabes, who is a noted local naturalist, is the sixth district chairman for conservation and after urgent requests, personally put on the exhibit which proved to be the first real conservation exhibit which has ever been shown at a state federation convention.

The booth, beautifully decorated in autumn foliage and evergreens that had been imported from the Brainerd district, with artistically arranged baskets and vases of wild flowers, that are now in season, presented a striking appearance.

One hundred carefully mounted specimens of wild flowers, personally mounted by Mrs. Thabes, three beautiful large bird charts from the National Audubon society, donated by the State game and fish commission; 25 nature books on birds, flowers, insects etc., from the personal library of Mrs. Thabes; an attractive display of native grasses prepared by Mrs. H. H. Angst of Crosby and a very fine collection of nature magazines consisting of practically one of every kind published in the United States, were a few of the interesting things of the exhibit.

Another display that added very materially to the exhibit was a collection of woods that are used in the manufacture of news print and book paper, the former donated by The Northwest Paper Co. of Brainerd and the latter by The Northwest Paper Co. of Cloquet. The various stages through which wood must pass in order to become paper was shown, enabling spectators to gain a fair knowledge of the many processes that wood must undergo before becoming the finished product. The Brainerd Dispatch purchases its paper from The Northwest Paper Co. and a good example of news print paper is that which the reader is now holding.

Kampmann and Son of Brainerd also donated an interesting display of woods that are used in the manufacturing of various articles and also for indoor furnishings.

An astounding revelation produced by the exhibit was the fact that native to Northern Minnesota, are 47 different kinds of natural woods which consist of the following named varieties: norway pine, white pine, scrub pine, white spruce, red spruce, birch white, sweet birch, red birch, white poplar, silver leaf poplar, balsam of gilead, red oak, white oak, black oak, white ash, black ash, red maple, hard maple, striped maple, tamarack red cedar, white cedar, balsam fir, speckled alder, American alder, smooth alder, wild plum, white cherry, red cherry (pin cherry) choke cherry, June berry, iron wood, slippery elm, hoary willow, diamond willow, slender willow, bass wood, highbush cranberry, hobblebush, round leaf dogwood, red osier dogwood, arrow wood, maple leaved Viburnum, cockspur thorn, smooth sumach, moose wood.

A sample of each of the woods had been carefully prepared by a patient at the Walker sanatorium.

A small birdhouse containing votes cast by visitors at the exhibit for their choice of the Minnesota State bird proved that the robin and meadow lark shared about even honors.

E. H. Rhodes district forest ranger and C. M. Roberts of the State Forestry department were very instrumental in making the exhibit a success and the State Federation greatly appreciated their co-operation and the fact that the state department allowed two of their men to devote their time to make the exhibit the success that it was.

Mr. Vibert of the Arrowhead institute of Duluth spoke on the proposed amendment to the state constitution on reforestation which, at the fall elections will read on the ballot as follows:

"Amendment to the constitution of Minnesota by adding thereto a new article, to be appropriately numbered in the order of its adoption, authorizing the enactment of laws encouraging and promoting reforestation and reforestation of lands in this state, whether owned by private persons or the public, including the fixing in advance of a definite and limited annual tax on such lands for a term of years and a yield tax at or after the end of such terms on the timber and other forest products so grown, but the taxation of mineral deposits shall not be affected by this amendment."

Holding that the adoption of this amendment which is to be submitted at the November election is contingent on educating the voters to its importance, the conservation committee will particularly stress its passing in its fall activities. Two years ago a similar amendment was submitted at the general election. It required a majority of all the votes cast in the election and while it was approved by a great majority of those who voted on the question, so many neglected to consider it that it was lost by a relatively narrow margin. ## The House That Larry Built

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

NEARLY all the other teachers in Polly's school had gone abroad for the summer vacation, but Polly had bought a little roadster instead. And now it was nearly the first of September and she felt somehow as if she hadn't had quite such a satisfactory vacation as she had hoped.

Now she stood in Larry Blair's garage while a mechanic crept under her trim little car to see just why it was that the engine had begun to pound so hard that she had stopped here for help. An idle-looking young man waiting for his car was talking to the six-foot, gray-eyed man in overalls whom the others referred to as "boss."

"Nice house you're building next door," observed the waiting young man. "What's your idea?"

Polly's eyes suddenly met those of the gray-eyed young man. He smiled in a most friendly manner and Polly smiled back. "I don't know just what I shall do," said he. "If my girl'll have me, then I'll marry and settle down. But if my girl won't have me, then I'll sell it."

"Asked her?" queried the other. "Not in so many words," returned Larry, the boss, "but—oh, she won't want me, so I won't need the house. What do you want to offer me for it?"

The idling one made no offer and the subject of conversation was changed. Just then the mechanic got out from under Polly's car and told her he thought everything was all right and she could pay the boss. She started to pay Larry.

"Wait," said Larry, handing back the money. "Maybe I'd better try that car myself." Larry was in the car and had driven it a few feet out of the garage when it stopped and appeared to jump. With difficulty Larry backed it into the garage. "There's something special that car needs," he said. "It won't cost any more—but it needs a new part."

Polly was distressed. "Dear me," she said, "I'm ten miles away from home."

"It happens that I am going along that way," said Larry. "Maybe you'd let me drive you home."

So it was that Polly drove ten miles over the highway with Larry. Larry never spent so much time on ten miles before in his life. He apologized, saying that there was something the matter with his car. "I don't mind in the least," said Polly. "I have been enjoying the scenery."

"So have I," said the bold Larry, looking into Polly's pretty face.

The next morning Larry brought back Polly's car.

"How are you going to get back?" Polly answered and Larry told her that he'd stand on the highway and get a lift from some truck or other. That is why she felt it was her real duty to take Larry back again to his garage.

"The scenery is even more beautiful to look at today than it was yesterday," said Larry. Then said Polly: "It will be very convenient for you, living there right beside your garage. The house is nearly done—you'll soon be moving in, I suppose."

"That depends on the girl," said Larry wistfully.

"I'm sure you and she ought to be very happy," sighed Polly. "That is to say—the house looks so convenient, and I'm sure it would be very nice living so near one's place of business. I cannot imagine a girl changing her mind after she had once given her word, or at least made you think she'd marry you. You see I overheard what you were telling that man in the garage yesterday."

"Is that so?" exclaimed Larry. "Well, I oughtn't to be so careless about how I tell secrets." They had reached the garage and Larry could think of no excuse to detain the little school teacher. But the teacher detained herself.

"You don't mind my looking through the house," she asked. "I'm so fond of new houses."

Larry insisted on accompanying her. "It is a neat little place, isn't it?" he said, looking down at Polly as they stood in the middle of the perfectly equipped little kitchen. "But I'm not going to let the girl I marry wear herself out working. I'm going to keep a cook for her."

"If she really loved you she wouldn't mind cooking for you," said Polly. "If she didn't really love me!" repeated Larry, looking sadly about. "How I wish I knew!"

"Why don't you ask her?" ventured Polly, and then the realization that this big man, Larry, was trying to make love to her came rushing upon her. She didn't have time to think it all out—whether it would be possible for her—well-bred school teacher—to marry a man who begrimed his hands with the grease of automobiles. But when Larry went toward her with pleading, outstretched arms she met him half way.

"But, Larry," she said, looking up to him as he held her, "I don't like to feel that I've taken some other girl's place."

"You don't suppose there ever was any other girl," accused Larry. "I liked—liked you a lot—first time I saw you. I was building this house for speculation—but when I saw you standing there and the question came up, I felt possessed to say what I did—and you know there wasn't anything more the matter with your car. I just said there was to get an excuse to take you home."

STOCK PRICES IRREGULAR

New York, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The Wall Street Journal's financial review today says:

Stock prices pursued an extremely irregular course at the start of the week. Wall street was greatly concerned over the terrific havoc created by the Florida hurricane and nervousness was increased in a rise in call money to 5½ per cent, the highest since early April.

Apprehension about the situation in Florida was somewhat relieved during the day by advices that reports regarding loss of life and life and property damages had been greatly exaggerated. With regard to money conditions it was recognized that the unsettledness was a natural outcome of the September 15 treasury operations. Loans approximating $25,000,000 were called to correct a deficit in Saturday clearing house statement which amounted to $2,513,610.

The market closed irregular.

Famous Garden Pride of New England City

The greatest garden in America is the Arnold arboretum at New Bedford, Mass., says the Pathfinder Magazine. Not only is it America's greatest, but it ranks among the most famous and important gardens of the world. James Arnold, a New Bedford merchant, died in 1890 and left a part of his estate to three trustees. They were instructed to apply the funds to the promotion and continuance of agriculture or horticulture improvement, or philosophical or philanthropic purposes, at their discretion. Two of these men were interested in trees and thought it important that knowledge of that subject be disseminated in America. So a scientific station for the study and cultivation of trees was decided on.

Of course this garden is a baby in years when compared with the great gardens of other nations. Its future, however, is assured. At present it consists of 250 acres of varied natural features of hill, valley, meadow and woodland. On this tract are growing over 800 genera of shrubs and trees. They include between 5,000 and 6,000 species and varieties.

Old Problem Leaves Room for Argument

The question of whether the bachelor or the married man lives the longer is one which has been discussed for a long time, but the problem today is still unsolved. After weighing the arguments of all investigators and comparing the bewildering array of statistics gathered in many countries under varying conditions, it is impossible to reach a conclusive answer. Many statisticians and other investigators who qualify as experts on the subject hold views diametrically opposed to one another.

The answer to this question has a general and far-reaching influence. If it is established that the chances of long life are greater for bachelors than for the married, both men and women will naturally be influenced in choosing between the two states. The moralist finds such statistics the basis for argument. For the insurance companies the question is a very practical one. Before millions of dollars are risked upon the expectation of life, the most reliable figures obtainable are gathered, regardless of trouble or expense.

Hard-Working Novelist

Undoubtedly the hardest-working woman author in history was Armadine Lucile Aurore, the French novelist, better known by her pen name, George Sand. She was born in Paris June 8, 1804, and is credited with being one of the first writers to demand liberty for women in all things. Though her novels enjoyed wide popularity during her lifetime, and were translated even into Russian, they are now somewhat old-fashioned, and not much read, says the London Chronicle. She wrote daily from 10 p. m. to 5 a. m., and if she finished a novel a quarter of an hour before the appointed time had elapsed, she at once set to work upon another.

Calculated Remark

A carver at the head of a table in an Irish inn, noticing the large number of guests, remarked audibly that the goose set before him might have been eaten a week ago.

Those who heard him ordered cuts from the joint, while he helped himself liberally to goose. A diner, noticing this, remarked that he had understood him to say that the goose was not good.

"Oh, no," he replied. "But you said that it might have been eaten a week ago."

"Yes, and so it might, but it wasn't." —London Tit-Bits.

Butterflies Travel Far

The Monarch butterfly of the northern United States and southern Canada, though common in north temperate latitudes, is unable to stand the winter north of the subtropical portions of the southern states. Though it does not establish the fact that the entire journey from Florida to the Arctic circle is made by individuals, the annual appearance of the insects proves that a considerable northward movement goes on each year. It may, of course, be the result of the successive efforts of several generations.

The House That Larry Built

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

Nearly all the other teachers in Polly's school had gone abroad for the summer vacation, but Polly had bought a little roadster instead. And now it was nearly the first of September and she felt somehow as if she hadn't had quite such a satisfactory vacation as she had hoped.

Now she stood in Larry Blair's garage while a mechanic crept under her trim little car to see just why it was that the engine had begun to pound so hard that she had stopped here for help. An idle-looking young man waiting for his car was talking to the six-foot, gray-eyed man in overalls whom the others referred to as "boss."

"Nice house you're building next door," observed the waiting young man. "What's your idea?"

Polly's eyes suddenly met those of the gray-eyed young man. He smiled in a most friendly manner and Polly smiled back. "I don't know just what I shall do," said he. "If my girl'll have me, then I'll marry and settle down. But if my girl won't have me, then I'll sell it."

"Asked her?" queried the other. "Not in so many words," returned Larry, the boss, "but—oh, she won't want me, so I won't need the house. What do you want to offer me for it?"

The idle one made no offer and the subject of conversation was changed. Just then the mechanic got out from under Polly's car and told her he thought everything was all right and she could pay the boss. She started to pay Larry.

"Wait," said Larry, handing back the money. "Maybe I'd better try that car myself." Larry was in the car and had driven it a few feet out of the garage when it stopped and appeared to jump. With difficulty Larry backed it into the garage. "There's something special that car needs," he said. "It won't cost any more—but it needs a new part."

Polly was distressed. "Dear me," she said, "I'm ten miles away from home."

"It happens that I am going along that way," said Larry. "Maybe you'd let me drive your home."

So it was that Polly drove ten miles over the highway with Larry. Larry never spent so much time on ten miles before in his life. He apologized, saying that there was something the matter with his car. "I don't mind in the least," said Polly. "I have been enjoying the scenery."

"So have I," said the bold Larry, looking into Polly's pretty face.

The next morning Larry brought back Polly's car.

"How are you going to get back?" Polly answered and Larry told her that he'd stand on the highway and get a lift from some truck or other. That is why she felt it was her real duty to take Larry back again to his garage.

"The scenery is even more beautiful to look at today than it was yesterday," said Larry. Then said Polly: "It will be very convenient for you, living there right beside your garage. The house is nearly done—you'll soon be moving in, I suppose."

"That depends on the girl," said Larry wistfully.

"I'm sure you and she ought to be very happy," sighed Polly. "That is to say—the house looks so convenient, and I'm sure it would be very nice living so near one's place of business. I cannot imagine a girl changing her mind after she had once given you her word, or at least made you think she'd marry you. You see I overheard what you were telling that man in the garage yesterday."

"Is that so?" exclaimed Larry. "Well, I oughtn't to be so careless about how I tell secrets." They had reached the garage and Larry could think of no excuse to detain the little school teacher. But the teacher detained herself.

"You don't mind my looking through the house," she asked. "I'm so fond of new houses."

Larry insisted on accompanying her. "It is a neat little place, isn't it?" he said, looking down at Polly as they stood in the middle of the perfectly equipped little kitchen. "But I'm not going to let the girl I marry wear herself out working. I'm going to keep a cook for her."

"If she really loved you she wouldn't mind cooking for you," said Polly.

"If she didn't really love me!" repeated Larry, looking sadly about. "How I wish I knew!"

"Why don't you ask her?" ventured Polly, and then the realization that this big man, Larry, was trying to make love to her came rushing upon her. She didn't have time to think it all out—whether it would be possible for her—well-bred school teacher—to marry a man who begrimed his hands with the grease of automobiles. But when Larry went toward her with pleading, outstretched arms she met him half way.

"But, Larry," she said, looking up to him as he held her. "I don't like to feel that I've taken some other girl's place."

"You don't suppose there ever was any other girl," accused Larry. "I liked—liked you a lot—first time I saw you. I was building this house for speculation—but when I saw you standing there and the question came up, I felt possessed to say what I did—and you know there wasn't anything more the matter with your car. I just said there was to get an excuse to take you home."

STOCK PRICES IRREGULAR

New York, Sept. 20.—(UP)—The Wall Street Journal's financial review today says:

Stock prices pursued an extremely irregular course at the start of the week. Wall street was greatly concerned over the terrific havoc created by the Florida hurricane and nervousness was increased in a rise in call money to 5½ per cent, the highest since early April.

Apprehension about the situation in Florida was somewhat relieved during the day by advices that reports regarding loss of life and life and property damages had been greatly exaggerated. With regard to money conditions it was recognized that the unsettledness was a natural outcome of the September 15 treasury operations. Loans approximating $25,000,000 were called to correct a deficit in Saturday clearing house statement which amounted to $2,513,610.

The market closed irregular.

Famous Garden Pride

of New England City

The greatest garden in America is the Arnold arboretum at New Bedford, Mass., says the Pathfinder Magazine.

Not only is it America's greatest, but it ranks among the most famous and important gardens of the world.

James Arnold, a New Bedford merchant, died in 1890 and left a part of his estate to three trustees. They were instructed to apply the funds to the promotion and continuance of agriculture or horticulture improvement, or philosophical or philanthropic purposes, at their discretion.

Two of these men were interested in trees and thought it important that knowledge of that subject be disseminated in America. So a scientific station for the study and cultivation of trees was decided on.

Of course this garden is a baby in years when compared with the great gardens of other nations. Its future, however, is assured. At present it consists of 250 acres of varied natural features of hill, valley, meadow and woodland. On this tract are growing over 800 genera of shrubs and trees. They include between 5,000 and 6,000 species and varieties.

Old Problem Leaves

Room for Argument

The question of whether the bachelor or the married man lives the longer is one which has been discussed for a long time, but the problem today is still unsolved. After weighing the arguments of all investigators and comparing the bewildering array of statistics gathered in many countries under varying conditions, it is impossible to reach a conclusive answer. Many statisticians and other investigators who may qualify as experts on the subject hold views diametrically opposed to one another.

The answer to this question has a general and far-reaching influence. If it is established that the chances of long life are greater for bachelors than for the married, both men and women will naturally be influenced in choosing between the two states. The moralist finds such statistics the basis for argument. For the insurance companies the question is a very practical one. Before millions of dollars are risked upon the expectation of life, the most reliable figures obtainable are gathered, regardless of trouble or expense.

First Oil Well in U. S.

Col. E. L. Drake began work on a well in Oil creek, Pennsylvania, on May 20, 1859. On August 27 of the same year he struck oil at a depth of 69½ feet. The well produced 30 barrels a day for a year.

Hard-Working Novelist

Undoubtedly the hardest-working woman author in history was Armadine Lucile Anore, the French novelist, better known by her pen name, George Sand. She was born in Paris June 8, 1804, and is credited with being one of the first writers to demand liberty for women in all things. Though her novels enjoyed wide popularity during her lifetime, and were translated even into Russian, they are now somewhat old-fashioned, and not much read, says the London Chronicle. She wrote daily from 10 p. m. to 5 a. m., and if she finished a novel a quarter of an hour before the appointed time had elapsed, she at once set to work upon another.

Calculated Remark

A carver at the head of a table in an Irish inn, noticing the large number of guests, remarked audibly that the goose set before him might have been eaten a week ago.

Those who heard him ordered cuts from the joint, while he helped himself liberally to goose. A diner, noticing this, remarked that he had understood him to say that the goose was not good.

"Oh, no," he replied.

"But you said that it might have been eaten a week ago."

"Yes, and so it might, but it wasn't."—London Tit-Bits.

Butterflies Travel Far

The Monarch butterfly of the northern United States and southern Canada, though common in north temperate latitudes, is unable to stand the winter north of the subtropical portions of the southern states. Though it does not establish the fact that the entire journey from Florida to the Arctic circle is made by individuals, the annual appearance of the insects proves that a considerable northward movement goes on each year. It may, of course, be the result of the successive efforts of several generations.
